Silk Suit with Striped Vest in Mauve and Gray.

When a decided note of contrast is desired striped fabrics are used with excellent effect, both by French and American designers. An interesting illustration is this chic suit fashioned from gray taffeta—the silvery tint of gray—with a vest of mauve and gray stripes and embroidery in mauve. The decorative feature of the flaring skirt is the cluster of tiny tucks just above the deep hem.

Mrs. Patrick H. Kelley, Miss Louise Newell and Mrs. Simeon D. Fess.

Mr. and Mrs. William Twine Tiers, of Philadelphia, are making a spring visit to Washington and are stopping at the Shoreham Hotel.

Mrs. Charles V. Wheeler was hostess at a dance last evening, when she entertained about forty young people, friends of her daughter, Miss Eleanor Wheeler.

Col. and Mrs. William Perry Sanger, and Miss Mary Sanger, of Sangerfield, are spending a few days at the Shoreham.

Miss M. Grace Storms, of Pontiac, Courta, is entertaining her young niece, Miss Valerie Emerson, of Rochester, N. Y.

YOUR WEDDING DAY

And the Famous Men and Women Who Have Shared it.

By MARY MARSHALL.

April 26--William Morris.

To most of us the poet, artist and manufacturer whose wedding day falls on April 26 is best known because he gave his name to the Morris chair, which was just one of the new types of artistic furniture that he invented. William Morris met Jane Burden when he was twenty-five, and the most eager period of his career and surely at the most susceptible moment of his life. He was at Oxford with his friend, the poet Rossetti, and the two young men chanced to see the beautiful Jane as far as Morris was concerned, and at a small theater.

It was a case of love at first sight as far as Morris was concerned, and Rossetti did not hide his admiration for the girl either. Later, he often reproduced the face of his friend's wife in many of his most characteristic paintings. In fact, this beautiful girl was the embodiment of the Rossetti type of woman that he, since become well known through the paintings of that artist. This is what Rossetti said of her:

"Her face is at once tragic, mystic, passionate, calm, beautiful and graceful, a face for a sculptor and a face for a painter, a face solitary in England and not at all like that of an English woman, but rather of an Ionian woman."

The heart of William Morris was immediately set to beating at double-quick time, and, ardent young poet that he was, he struck off these verses to describe her:

"My lady seems of ivory,
Forehead, straight nose and cheeks
Hollow'd a little mournfully,
Beata mea Domina.

"Not greatly long my lady's hair,
Nor yet with yellow color fair,
But thick and crisped wonderfully,
Beata mea Domina.

"Her great eyes standing far apart
Draw up some memory from her heart
And gaze out very wonderfully,
Beata mea Domina.

"Her full lips being made to kiss,
Cur'd and pensive each one is.
This makes me faint and stand to see
Beata mea Domina.

Before long, Morris had met the lady of his dreams, and their marriage crowned a brief but ardent courtship. Apparently Jane was as deeply in love as was William. In appearance he was handsome, tall, and of a true poet. The life of William and Jane Morris was one of rare happiness and never did the poet cease to derive new inspiration and joy from her wonderful eyes and lips.

GRAPE JUICE DELICACIES.

Grape juice is one of the most refreshing of summer beverages. On very warm days the best way to serve it is well diluted either with plain or charged water, with slices of ice in it. It is also deliciously refreshing when added to lemonade or orangeade, and a good punch can be made with ice and a foundation of lemon and orange, and grape juice, with a little sugar added.

Grape juice sherbet is made in this way: Soak half a package of gelatine for ten minutes in cold water. Boil together for ten minutes a cupful of sugar and a cupful and a half of water. Add the gelatine, strain and cool. Add a pint of grape juice, a third of a cupful of orange juice, four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and freeze.

Grape juice ice cream is also delicious. To make it, mix a pint of thin cream with a cupful of grape juice, sweeten to taste, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice, and freeze.

Add grape juice to grapefruit, taken from the shells, chilled, slightly sweetened, and piled in dessert glasses. Or add three tablespoonfuls of each half of grapefruit and grape juice to a quart of cream. Grape juice may be used in this way with apples: Boil together a cupful of granulated sugar with half as much water for three minutes. Then pour it into two small saucepans, and in each put four minutes of the sugar, and with cores removed. Simmer slowly until the apples are tender, chill, and serve in dessert glasses with the syrup poured around them and a little whipped cream on each.

Grape juice and mango is made in this way: Add the table-spoonfuls of granulated sugar sifted with two of corn starch to a little cold water, stir smooth, and then add a cupful of water boiling with three cupfuls of grape juice. Boil for four minutes and pour into small molds or dessert dishes. Serve with whipped cream and a custard in which lemon peel or orange peel has been steeped.

For grape juice soufflé add two tablespoonfuls of softened gelatine to two cupfuls of water and heat until gelatine is dissolved. Strain and cool when it begins to stiffen, beat in the stiff whites of four eggs and fold in a cupful of whipped cream. Pour into a mold and chill. Serve with cream.

How to Look Years Less Than Your Age

The most aged face will look years younger if the use of ordinary marcolized wax for from ten days to two weeks. This remarkable substance, because of its peculiar absorptive power, actually removes the thin veil of faded or withered outer cuticle, a little at a time. Gradually the fresher, more youthful skin underneath is revealed. This absorption process being a purely hygienic one, an entirely natural complexion is acquired—quite different from the artificial complexion, which appears anything but girlish, though often bearing painful evidence of childlessness. An ounce of marcolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to rejuvenate any complexion. It is put on like cold cream, and removed with warm water.

To radiate such age marks as wrinkles and furrows, make a wash lotion by dissolving 1 oz. powdered aniline in 1/2 pt. witch hazel. This has wonderful skin-softening properties. It quickly effaces all kinds of wrinkles, no matter how caused, making the skin firm, smooth and young looking.—Adv.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

Special Correspondent of The Washington Herald.

New York, April 26.—The divorce problems present some odd phases of life in New York. Last week a patient citizen, aged 64, in happier days a manufacturer of millions instead of the wearer of one, asked the courts to lighten his annual burden of $4,000 which he paid out for twenty-four years as alimony.

His wife has married again, meanwhile, and now has married children. One of these children is drawing $1,000 a year alimony on her own hook. The petitioner says his present income is $5,000 a year and that the money has left him in straitened circumstances.

Several years ago there was a man who gave up housekeeping—he says it is nearly twenty—and stored his household goods. He has since paid storage far in excess of the intrinsic value of the furniture to whose ownership he claims, hoping for the day when he can find a house which he and his family will wish to live in at a rent he can afford to pay.

There seems to be no pain in Oldford for the alimony and store in New York if these cases can be considered samples.

At the subway station at Times Square the other afternoon a vision of feminine loveliness came out of the cloak and stubbed her toe on a plank. She fell and her fall was accompanied by an ominous tearing sound, a sound which sends the chill down the spine of every woman. She looked down and saw a five-inch strip of silk, trailing its length behind her. She could not tear it off—so she looked around wildly. "Peen lady!" "Peen?" and an over-all laborer stood in front of her, hat in hand. Pulling a needle he extracted a large brass safety pin which was doing butten duty on a flannel shirt. He held it out smilingly and with the interest and kindness of a child.

With a sigh of relief the vision of loveliness stopped to repair the damage wrought. There was a flash of white teeth, a courtly bow, a good-bye and he became again one of a huge army of subway diggers. That is about all there is to the story—except a flash of white teeth and a good-bye and he became again one of a huge army of subway diggers.

Millionaires go to picture shows—yes, indeed. Over on Madison avenue one night the week the members of the Vanderbilt family were occupying seats in the rear of the theater and apparently enjoying the screen drama.

William A. Brady has managed boxing champions. The theatergoers married George, wore a slouch hat superbly directed moving pictures and done many other interesting things—now he has taken dancing up to add to his accomplishments. His wife didn't know he had been practicing for some time with the new steps and when he asked her to dance on a roof the other night, she hesitated. Finally she sailed out on the floor with him and started dancing. He looked around for somebody to give him a prize cup.

Brady, it is declared—not alone by press agents—is receiving a salary of $100,000 as head of a big film company. He started with a marker in a brokerage office downtown and is self-made.

HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Wednesday, April 26, 1916.

According to astrology the planetary indications for this day are not important. While the Sun and Venus are in benefic aspect, Uranus, Saturn and Jupiter are all mildly adverse.

It should be a favorable time for women to seek employment or pre-arrange, especially if they desire to bespeak the patronage of persons of influence.

Singers, actresses and artists of every vocation should benefit under the way of the stars, which, however, is supposed to encourage eccentric and extraordinary ideas. Hotel proprietors, theatrical managers and all who cater to public approval have the forecast of a month that is profitable.

The Sun is believed to give to men of prominence added power to please and for this reason the day should be most lucky for those who desire political favors.

The South comes under a direction that is most promising, in that it forecasts business activity and the development of neglected resources. The aged should conserve their strength while this rule prevails. Uranus and Neptune give prophecy of an earth-consciousness concerning spiritual conditions. The revival of some old order of teaching promises to exert much interest. Theater has a direction that is read as prearranging the greatest public interest and co-operation, which may be a source of loss as well as gain, the seers declare.

Honors for a reformer who must suffer persecution are predicted. Again gospel and even scandal are prearranged for a great organization of women, who will undertake splendid philanthropies.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be cautious where letters or contracts are involved. The young will have romance or marriage in the coming year. Children born on this day will win respect and even reverence. Girls will be favorite with the opposite sex.

TOMORROW'S MENU.

"The chickens don't brag about their own soup."—Martineau Creole saying.

BREAKFAST.

Eggs, Cream, Liver, Corn Bread, Oatmeal.

LUNCHEON OR SUPPER.

Tomato Salad, Trussed Water Mutton, Hot Chicken, Oatmeal.

DINNER.

Chicken Soup, Roasted Beefsteak, Creamed Potatoes, Buttered Beans, Lettuce Salad, Prime Whip.

Corn Bread—Sift a cupful of yellow meal, half a cupful of flour, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of sugar. Cream the yolks of two eggs with a tablespoonful of butter and add a cupful and a quarter of milk. Stir in the dry ingredients and, last of all, fold in the whites of two eggs, beaten stiff. Bake thirty minutes in a flat sheet.

Toasted Water Blauet—Split hard water blauet, dip them quickly into hot water, lay them in a pan, spread with a little butter and sprinkle with a little grated nutmeg. Brown in the oven.

Beefsteak—Have a good steak cut from the round about an inch and a half thick. Let it lie for an hour in a mixture of two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, one of vinegar, and a little salt and pepper. Turn once. Drain. Broil, and serve with a brown gravy.

PIMPLY TETTER ON HANDS AND FEET

Would Itch and Burn So Badly Could Not Sleep. Dared Not Put Hands in Water. Ashamed of Them.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I was troubled with tetter. It first began by very small bumps or pimples coming on my hands and feet. Large pimples would form and become very sore. I could not sleep at night the pimples would itch and burn so badly. I dared not put my hands in water for they would burn and itch so. I was ashamed to let any one see my hands they were so rough and sore, and I could not wear any clothing on the affected parts."

"I finally saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and I got a large sized box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Soap and in two months my hands and feet were perfectly healed." (Signed) J. B. Dickerson, Brookhaven, Miss., July 8, 1914.
